About HKUMed

Since 1887

The Medical Faculty of The University of Hong Kong is the most historic local tertiary education institution, and the third oldest medical school in the country. It was founded as the Hong Kong College of Medicine for Chinese by the London Missionary Society in 1887, and later renamed the Hong Kong College of Medicine in 1907. The Faculty was accorded the position of premier Faculty when the University opened in 1912.

Serving Hong Kong for 131 years, the Faculty is not only an institution of learning, innovation, and enterprising; but also a school of morals, vision, and care. The Faculty and its predecessor have been playing a pioneering role in medical education, training and research since our establishment.

From our modest beginnings, the Faculty has now become the largest faculty of the University, with 400 full-time professoriate staff, 800 research personnel and 2,000 honorary teachers. There are approximately 2,900 undergraduate and 1,500 postgraduate students. The Faculty comprises 4 schools, 14 departments, 3 paedagogical units and more than 30 research centres, institutes and technology platforms focusing on various strengths of teaching and research of the Faculty.

A Legacy Campaign for the Next 130

For 130 years the Faculty has been leading the advancement of health care in Hong Kong, the region and beyond. As we turn the page towards the next 130 years of service and discovery, it is an opportune time to reflect on the essence of our incredible journey.

For its 130th Anniversary, the Faculty is celebrating the core values that we inherited from our forebears and that still guide our mission: wisdom, compassion and commitment. The “130 for 130” Legacy Campaign is not only a meaningful way to honour that legacy and give back to the alma mater, but also to help students coming through the ranks to embrace these timeless virtues, just as our past legacy has contributed to.

“130 for 130” Legacy Campaign 130th Anniversary Curricula

The “130 for 130” Legacy Campaign will support the recently launched 130th Anniversary Curricula, which aims to push medical and health sciences education to new frontiers. The centrepiece of the new curriculum will be the provision for students to go “off timetable” in their third year to pursue different kinds of learning. They may pursue an additional degree, broadening coursework or experiential learning at HKU as well as outside of Hong Kong at leading institutions and settings worldwide.

The Campaign will help to support the Faculty’s commitment to ensure every student, whatever their means, has these opportunities. All donations will go into a fund for students so they can fulfill their personal learning ambitions in the new 130 curricula. The contributions will benefit learning for generations of future health care professionals well beyond the local classroom.

A Legacy Campaign for the Next 130

A CHAIR.
A PLAQUE.
A MESSAGE.

The “130 for 130” Legacy Campaign is being launched at the start of the season of giving. For a donation of HKD 50,000, we will offer a named chair in the lecture theatres at the Cheung Kung Hai Conference Centre, the “face” of the Faculty where many of our lectures and external conferences take place throughout the year.

For each donation, you will be able to select your chair which will bear a plaque engraved with your name, or the name of a selected person. This will extend your participation in the Campaign beyond financial aid, as the words on your plaque will become part of an enduring legacy, visible and inspiring to many generations to come.
